

Aries (March 21 - April 19) -

Have you been feeling like your roommates, significant other, or family, are plotting against you? How clever and intuitive you are! The horrible angry moon referenced last month has been wreaking havoc in your planetary house. It is likely to leave an explosive trail of destruction before fading away. You will be kicked out of your home, fall in with a group of rowdy misfits, and start hitting the bottle pretty hard. It will be fun for the first 48 hours but you will quickly fall into a deep depression. The only way to soften the blow is to offer an animal sacrifice to the full moon on April 25th. The animal must be a male lamb, ram or goat, and its blood must be ceremonially sprinkled around the altar. I don't recommend using a real animal, because that's sick. A stuffed animal from an arcade claw game and a bottle of pomegranate juice will do the trick.

Taurus (April 20 - May 20) -

Drag your significant other into the night to observe the lunar eclipse on April 25th. As the shadow creeps across the moon watch his or her face closely. Something will be revealed which you had always sensed was lurking but couldn't quite articulate. As the darkness gradually renders the moon a deep blood-like hue, does your partner's lip curl ever so slightly? Do you notice an intense flicker of ravenous lust in your partner's eye? Does your partner turn slowly toward you with a cold, detached stare? At this moment you will be struck with a sharp wave of terrified nausea as a number of strange moments and statements suddenly make sense; your partner is a cannibal. Mars will be in your sign which puts you in a position of power and will make clear what you are to do with this information. Although, do you really even need Mars? Run.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20) -

Uranus is full of surprises this month. You're raring to go and the entire universe is spurring you on in every way. Romance, friendship and important new alliances will have you feeling like a newly discovered reality TV star. Whereas last month, you were kind of a loser (let's face it), this month your ego will become disgustingly bloated. Before you learn to become discerning, you will accept every offer extended. Try to reel this in, or you will end up at a truly terrible dinner party. The guests will insist on playing a real life version of Clue which will take longer than a summertime game of Monopoly with your siblings. You will be assigned the role of Colonel Mustard and will be required to commit atrocious acts with a candlestick in the study. It will become apparent that even though you are in a ridiculous costume, this is not a game and these people are not your friends. If you do attend this party, you will not be leaving without blood on your hands.

Cancer (June 21 - July 22) -

There is a new moon arriving on April 10th and it's bringing some tenacious little friends. They will be well-intentioned but will cloud your aura with incendiary tension. Your house of business affairs and finance will flourish but this is a very dangerous time for you to have important conversations. Each time you enter into a civilized discussion, the planetary imps will be urging you to speak the truth. The more inappropriate, sinister, or harmful the fact, the more restraint it will take for you to suppress it. If you're the one to reveal to your conservative new business partner that you're aware of his late night domination sessions with Mistress Kitty, the consequences will be dire. If you find yourself on the verge of sharing this information with his wife you MUST take a deep breath and remove yourself from the situation. Fire is prominently featured in your sign this month so you should expect a Molotov cocktail to be hurled through your window or an explosion as you start your car if you can't keep sensitive information to yourself for a few weeks.

Leo (July 23 - August 22) -

Your solar house is alight with reflective energy. As a Leo, you enjoy being in the limelight, but this month, you will find yourself turning your attention inward. Even if you are not a particularly religious person, you are likely to be craving a spiritual experience. Your natural tendency is to do things on a grand scale with a good dose of dramatic flair. A little yoga, meditation, or a visit to a local church will not be enough quell your desire for a meaningful experience. You will immediately start planning a trip to a temple to pray with monks. They will recognize instantly that you are not humble or sincere and your obsession with the superficial will spark a rage in them never before seen. Having devoted their lives to harmony and peace, the monks will have little control over this new emotion. Amidst prayer room brawls and serenity garden fistfights, all of which you are a part of, the monks will manage to agree that you must enter into a life of indentured servitude at the temple. Your future will be replete with beatings and odd personal requests from the monks; there will be no escape. So please, just accept that this spiritual quest is another one of your fleeting whims. Hold off on planning the temple trip; you'll have moved on to applying for the next season of the Bachelor or Bachelorette by May.

Virgo (August 23 - September 22) -

Planets in Aries have a strong emphasis on health and medical procedures this month. Mercury and Uranus are also comingling in a devious way. This suggests that some type of surgery will be scheduled for the end of April, but it will not go well. If the procedure is not urgent, you should hold off just a wee bit. If you must go ahead with the surgery, maintain a heightened sense of alertness. Do the nurses seem hungover, haggard, and unnecessarily rough when they shove the IV needle in your arm? Is the radiologist speaking with a heavy Eastern European accent but using terms that don't sound quite...medical? Does the staff assure you that although your treating doctor is unavailable, the surgeon on call is even better? Are the drugs just starting to take effect or did the lights really flicker as a gurney holding an orangutan was wheeled from the surgical area? As the surgical team pulls out a primitive leather belt to strap you to the operating table and the lights flicker again, you'll begin to wonder if this place is really a hospital at all. If you don't observe any of these signs, you'll probably be fine.

Libra (September 23 - October 22) -

Somehow they knew you were coming back to visit your old stomping grounds. In fact, they were waiting for you long before you arrived. They've been watching your every step, but you haven't caught a glimpse of them. You think to yourself: "What happened here? Where is everyone?" It's pitch black, frigid, and already three in the morning. You've been meandering for hours, lost and confused. The fog has grown thicker and you can barely see your own hand when you raise it to your face. That's when you bump into that old statue of Joseph Glanvill. Then you hear footsteps coming from behind. But, for some reason, when you attempt to turn around, you can't. Except for your eye-balls, you're totally frozen. Something tightens around your neck. It feels like a rope. For a moment, there's total silence and then...you're pulled - violently - upwards. Search parties are formed, but you're never seen alive again. So listen, you're going to go through a lot of nostalgic memories this month. These memories will prompt you to consider re-visiting old haunts, friends, and lovers. Don't. You'll only be led astray. Sometimes, it's best to let well enough alone. Fight off all of those sentimental feelings this month. It's high time to move on with your life and think about your future - not your past.

Scorpio (October 23 - November 21) -

If you don't frequent a mystic's prediction parlor, you probably should this April. If you see the same fortune-teller on a regular basis, it's time to visit a different one this month. Should you heed this advice, the clairvoyant you encounter will use her tarot cards and undoubtedly uncover some critical information concerning your immediate future. Be careful, however, not to look the soothsayer directly in the eyes while she reads through her cards. If at any point that should happen, the soul of an ancient Egyptian High Priestess will begin its slow passage through the psychic and into your body. At first, you will be plagued by a recurring dream: an ibis flies through the night air, across a river, between two tapered towers, and lands on an altar in the courtyard of a remote temple. Yes, that vision may appear innocent enough, but it's only the beginning.

Sagittarius ( November 22 - December 21) -

It's highly advisable to keep to yourself this month. Don't concern yourself with gossip and the affairs of others. Stay productive and you'll be able to steer clear from trouble at work and home. Whatever you do, don't walk around town peeking in other people's windows. Around the tenth or eleventh this month, during the new moon, a séance will be in full swing quite close to your home. At one point in the ritual, a medium, dressed in ghostly Puritan-like-garb, will suddenly begin to levitate in the air while his male counterparts stare upwards at him in obedient-vacant-eyed-wonder. What they don't know is that you're the key to the secret they seek - you're the final piece to the puzzle. All it takes is for you to break their concentration by peering through that window. The powdered-wigged-heads will casually and uniformly turn, and that's when you'll become the hunted.

Capricorn (December 22 - January 19) -

That guilt that's been hanging over your head? Begone! It's time to make amends, but be sure to do so properly. Talk to a friend. See a therapist. Admit your misdeeds, free yourself, and be at peace. After all, life is best lived with a mind at ease. Be sure to act before the full moon on the 26th, however, as a shadowy figure is lurking in your future. That pale, gaunt, and leprous being will surely offer to consume your sins, but you're going to get more than you bargained for this time. This particular sin-eater, Zelophehad Assir, is no martyr, and has decidedly diabolical plans in mind for the ones you love most.

Aquarius (January 20 - February 18) -

It's time to do some spring cleaning! Do so, and you will be richly rewarded. Not only will you get your place in tip-top shape, but you're going to discover several objects that are important to you and your family. Be sure to cleanse every single room of your house except for your basement. Leave that for next month. It's okay to do the laundry down there, but don't poke around too much. A portal, which appears every thirteen years, is due to open up in your cellar. This doorway will actually try to pull you towards it - especially during the waning gibbous moon - so dusting behind your boiler is not recommended. Should you choose to do so, curiosity will grab hold, you'll pass through the door, and quickly find yourself traveling down a ladder that leads to a small rowboat. After traveling aimlessly across an underground lake and weaving your dinghy between colossal stone pillars, you'll come upon an abandoned granite dwelling located on a small desolate island. It's in that den that you will encounter an amorphous golem with nothing but torture and your destruction on his mind. Ordinarily, you would be able to defeat this demoniac creature, but the position of Uranus this month will cause you to unshackle concealed tensions within your body at the most inopportune of moments.

Pisces (February 19 - March 20) -

You should really work on being a little less vain this April. It may seem silly, but there is a definite chance that you're going to see your doppelganger in your bathroom mirror on the twenty-third. So, whatever you do, don't look at your reflection on the fourth Tuesday of this month. As you very well know, the doppelganger is a harbinger of great misfortune - most often certain death. If you choose to look into the mirror on this fateful day, you'll only encounter a second paler, more gruesome, version of yourself. Shortly thereafter, you'll hear a rap-tap-tapping beneath you, stemming from the first floor of your home. You'll travel downstairs and open the front door - only to reveal a hooded message-bearer. This frightful delivery ghoul will bring his mouth to the side of your head and whisper words into your ear that will shake you to your core. Some say Pisces are impractical and irrational. Well, in this case, it's a good thing you are: you're going to trust your intuition and take this advice.
